OF THE

United States

OCTOBER TERM, 1947

No.

CARL MEYER,

vs.

TERRITORY OF HAWAII,

Petitioner,

Respondent.

PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI,
to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

To the Honorable, the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States:

Petitioner, Carl Meyer, respectfully prays for a writ of certiorari to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, to review its final judgment, entered December 2, 1947, affirming the judgment of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii.

OPINIONS BELOW.

The opinion of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii is contained in the record. R. 298-302. The majority opinion of the Circuit Court of Appeals is contained in the record. R. 320-335. The dissenting opinion is also in the record. R. 335-346.

JURISDICTION.

Jurisdiction of this Court is invoked under section 240 of the Judicial Code. 28 U.S.C.A., sec. 347 (a).

SUMMARY STATEMENT OF THE MATTER INVOLVED.

In the Circuit Court of the Third Judicial Circuit of the Territory of Hawaii, the petitioner was indicted and found guilty of the crime of larceny in the first degree. (R. 57 and 94.)

As provided by the laws of the Territory of Hawaii (see Secs. 9551 and 9555, Revised Laws of Hawaii 1945), a writ of error was issued by the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii (R. 53) and duly returned. (R. 56.)

While his appeal in this case was pending before the Hawaiian Appellate Court, defendant was again tried and found guilty in the trial Court of the charge of larceny in the first degree as contained in another one of a series of indictments returned against him. From the judgment in the second case he also appealed to the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii.

Briefs were filed by both parties, the opening and reply briefs being set out in the record before this Court, the former beginning at page 137 and the latter on page 237.

Extensive argument by both parties before the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii was had on April 16 and 17, 1945. By consent of the Court and the parties, both appeals were argued at the same time in the Supreme Court of Hawaii, though no formal order consolidating the appeals was ever entered. The matter was taken under advisement and thereafter on June 15, 1945, the Court of its own motion decided to dismiss the writs on the sole ground that a statement in appellant's opening brief that "appellant relies upon 'each and every one'" of his assignments of error is not a sufficient compliance with rule 3, paragraph 1(d) of the Rules of the Supreme Court, 36 Haw. 753. This decision of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii appears on pages 286 to 290 of the printed Record in this Court. The judgment that the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii would not further consider the assignments of error, and dismissing the writ appears on page 291 of said Record.

In due time appellant presented to the Supreme Court a petition for rehearing (R. 293) which petition for rehearing was denied without argument. (R. 302.)

In due time following the order of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii denying appellant's petition for a rehearing, appellant perfected an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in each of the cases (R. 7), that Court having jurisdiction to review the judgment of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii by reason of the provisions of section 128 of the Judicial Code.

The appeal raises the question of the correctness of the action of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii in dismissing his appeals, thereby violating the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment.

No order for consolidation of the appeals in the Circuit Court of Appeals having been asked or entered, separate petitions for certiorari are being presented to this Court. If granted, the appeals can readily be disposed of in a single opinion.

A majority of the judges of the Circuit Court of Appeals by whom this matter was heard, held that in the action of the Supreme Court of Hawaii there was no "clear departure from ordinary legal principles." (R. 325.)

Mr. Justice Denman, dissenting, said, "This is one of the clearest cases of violation of the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment that has come before this Court. Only by ignoring the essential facts, namely, the briefs filed in the two appeals can any other conclusion be reached." (R. 325.)

QUESTION PRESENTED.

Did the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii in dismissing petitioner's writs of error deprive of due process of law and of a fair and impartial trial?

REASONS RELIED ON FOR ALLOWANCE OF THE WRIT.

THE DECISION OF THE CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS, LIKE THAT OF THE HAWAIIAN SUPREME COURT, CLEARLY DEPRIVES THE PETITIONER OF DUE PROCESS OF LAW AND OF A FAIR AND IMPARTIAL TRIAL.

The decision of the Supreme Court of Hawaii is set out in full in the majority opinion in the Circuit Court of Appeals. (R. 310-314.) As there stated (R. 311), "The rule (of the Supreme Court of Hawaii) provides inter alia that an appellant's brief 'shall contain * * * a specification of the errors relied upon.' " (Rules Sup. Ct., 36 Haw. 753, rule 3, par. 1(d).)

Petitioner's opening briefs filed in the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii, succinctly state justiciable questions of claimed error of most serious import in full compliance with rules of the Hawaiian Court. Because elsewhere in the briefs, in presenting some of the other claims of error, there is a failure to comply with the rule, the Hawaiian Court dismissed the appeals, thus refusing to consider those clearly and succinctly presented in proper form.

Admitting for the purposes of argument, failure of technical compliance with the rules as to other matters, the justiciable questions which are briefed with complete compliance with the Court's rules stand out clearly. An appellant's right to due process on appeal should not be denied for a technical failure in presenting claimed errors clearly distinct from those properly presented.

The majority opinion of the Circuit Court of Appeals employs the following language:

"The appellant strives to spell out a deprivation of his constitutional rights because the Territorial court 'dismissed the writ on a mere technicality'. We do not agree. The appellant does not argue, nor can he argue, that the rule itself is unconstitutional. As we have seen, he admits that he did not conform to a valid rule of the tribunal to which he was appealing. In our view, that ends the case."

It is respectfully submitted that such a holding is a clear violation of the principles established in Frank v. Magnum, 237 U.S. 209, 327, and Cochran v. Kansas, 316 U.S. 255-258. What is there said respecting due process in State Courts under the Fourteenth Amendment is of equal application to the due process under the Fifth Amendment in a Hawaiian Court. Farington v. Tokushige, 273 U.S. 284.

In brief, one of the errors so presented is that at the trial of the second case the appeal in the first was pending, yet the trial Court permitted the introduction of evidence of appellant's conviction in the first. The claim that this is error is clearly a justiciable question of Hawaiian criminal law. In the first case one of the claimed errors is the prosecutor's attempt to implicate the accused in six other crimes of which appellant not only had not been convicted but for which no criminal proceedings had been initiated, clearly a justiciable question under the Hawaiian law.

The character of these claimed errors so refused consideration makes the refusal a violation of the "immutable principles of justice which inhere in the very idea of free government," of Holden v. Hardy, 169 U.S. 366, 389, and of the "fundamental principles of liberty and justice which lie at the base of all our civil and political institutions," of Herbert v. Louisiana, 272 U.S. 312, 316.

Petitioner's brief filed in the Supreme Court of Hawaii first states his assignment of error accompanying his petition for writ of error as required by Title 23, Section 9558 of the Hawaiian Code. His brief later states the question as follows:

"Group V, Question No. V.

Did the Court err, in ruling that a prior conviction of the defendant (after it had been properly appealed, staying the mittimus, judgment and sentence of the Court) is competent matter to impeach the credibility of the defendant upon his cross-examination as a witness in his behalf?

The above question No. 5 of Group V, is raised in this Appeal by the Assignments of Error Nos. XVIII and XXVIII as of record, and as herein-after set forth and will be discussed collectively because both involve the same principle of law."

Then follows his presentation by repeating in full his assignment of error which specifies as follows:

"Assignment of Error No. XVIII.

The Circuit Court erred in permitting the prosecution to cross-examine the defendant while a witness for himself, over objection of the defendant, of and concerning a prior conviction of larceny of cattle, from which prior conviction, the defendant had appealed to the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii, and the sentence and judgment of said prior conviction had been stayed by the court because of said Appeal, upon the theory of impeaching the credibility of the defendant as a witness for himself; the defendant objected to said cross-examination; that it was irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial and the defendant raised a federal question, that said cross-examination was made for the sole purpose of prejudicing the defendant with the jury, insinuating to the jury that defendant was a habitual criminal, and therefore guilty of the crime in question; further, that said appeal with a stay of the Judgment and Sentence, was not a prior conviction according to the law; the court overruled the objection of the defendant, to which ruling the defendant duly excepted to, in the presence of the jury. Transcript pages 304-308, as follows: * * *

That it is entitled an "assignment" makes its content nonetheless a specification. Then follows the transcript of the trial Court's proceeding in which, in the absence of the jury, the appeal is shown to be pending, the return of the jury, and then the following:

"Q. Were you not convicted in this court on the 31st day of August, 1943, of Larceny in the First Degree and that you stole three heads of cattle from Frank Teixeira in the Puukapu Homesteads on this Island?

Mr. Esposito (attorney for Appellant): Object, it is irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial; that this man has taken an appeal and that appeal stays mittimus and stays conviction.

The Court: Objection overruled.

Mr. Esposito: Exception.

The Court: Yes. You will please answer the question.

A. Yes."

Then is set forth the following assignment of error regarding the Court's instruction that the jury could consider the pending appeal:

"Assignment of Error No. XXVII.

The Circuit Court erred, in giving Territory's requested Instruction No. 10, over objection of defendant, to which ruling of the Court, in the presence of the jury, the defendant duly excepted, for the reason that said instruction was not the correct law.

'Evidence has been received to the effect that the defendant Carl Meyer, has heretofore been convicted of a crime. This evidence was received solely because it bears upon the moral character and upon the credibility of the defendant as a witness, and the fact of conviction is one that you may take into consideration in weighing his testimony. It must not be used for any other purpose whatever.' "

Then follow less than four pages of briefing of the two claimed errors. It concerns the two following

Hawaiian statutes which it is claimed have never been considered in this connection by the Hawaiian Supreme Court:

“Section 3555. Stay in criminal cases. The giving of written notice in open court by the defendant or his counsel within ten days after judgment of intention to sue out a writ of error shall operate as a stay of execution, and shall suspend the operation of sentence in all criminal cases; * * *”

“Section 5528. After previous conviction. When any person shall be proceeded against before any court of criminal jurisdiction for a subsequent offense in either case committed after any previous summary conviction or convictions a copy of the conviction certified by the proper officer of the court to which the summary conviction shall have been returned or proved to be a true copy, shall be sufficient evidence to prove a conviction of the former offense and the conviction shall be presumed to have been unappealed against until the contrary be shown.”

Then follows the statement of cases from four states having similar statutes which have held such a question to be error warranting reversal.

To dismiss an appeal so cogently presenting such a justiciable question because of technical defects in briefing other claimed error, is to deprive petitioner of due process of law and of a fair and impartial trial.

The brief fully complies with the rules in presenting the claimed error of the prosecutor's questions to appellant of other offenses for which he was not indicted.

This is briefed under the title:

"Did the Court err, in its conduct of the trial and deprive the defendant of a fair and impartial trial as guaranteed to him by the law of the land, in permitting the prosecutor to cross-examine the defendant upon specific acts of misconduct of the defendant based upon hearsay evidence, and concerning which alleged offenses the defendant had not been convicted?"

Again is stated the assignment of error at the beginning of the brief and repeated under the above title, as follows:

"Assignment of Error No. VI.

The Circuit Court erred, in denying and overruling the defendant's motion for mistrial, which were severally, and often jointly made by the defendant, at the occurrences of the misconduct and the admission of the poisonous evidence, and later repeated at the conclusion of all the evidence of both parties and before the settling of the instructions by the Court, and before counsel for both sides addressed the jury, that said Motions for Mistrial were properly made by the defendant in the presence of the jury; that full and complete reasons were assigned by the defendant to the Court for the said misconduct and the defendant duly excepted to the Court's ruling in the presence of the jury."

Then follow the portions of the record showing six questions by the prosecutor, to which appellant objected as incompetent and prejudicial and for which he moved a mistrial. They seek to implicate the accused with five other similar crimes for which he had not been indicted, much less convicted, and with a claimed adultery. They are

“Q. Sometime in 1938 did you or did you not steal one Holstein Hereford calf of W. M. S. Lindsey, senior, take it to your slaughter house pasture, brand it, cut off its ear, and then when caught by Lindsey and his worker who was Yokoyama, did you not cry and promise never to do it again?”

“Q. Did you not between February 1, 1941, and August 31, 1941 there in Kona steal one stag with horns, cut out near the ears one po-le and one steer with horn, red and white faced half wild from Manuel Gomes of Houaloe, take it to the Magoon lease and later slaughter it?”

“Did you or did you not between the first day of January or the 31st day of January, 1942 in the Puukapu Homesteads steal and slaughter a steer of James Spencer and immediately boil the hide and have it fed to the pigs?”

“Q. Did you or did you not between the first day of February, 1942 and the 28th day of February, 1942 steal there in the Puukapu Homesteads from Parker Ranch two fat breeding cows, slaughter them and boil their hides?”

“Q. Did you or did you not in the months of June or July, 1942 there in Puukapu Homesteads steal two Parker Ranch cows, one with a six or seven months old calf inside it and one with a two months old calf inside it, slaughter them and boil the inborn calves and hides?”

"Q. When were you married?

A. 1931, about.

Q. During the years 1936, 1937 did you not have an adultery relationship with one * * * (naming woman)?

Mr. Esposito: I object. There must be an arrest and conviction.

Q. And as a result of that relationship was there not born a child * * * (naming child) on August 1, 1937, at the Kau Hospital?

Mr. Esposito: Objection. There is no conviction. It is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: I will allow the question."

Thus it can be seen, the brief's assignment of error states appellant's motion to the trial Court for a mistrial on the ground of allowance of these questions. That these offensive and degrading questions were answered in the negative does not make the contention of appellant's brief that the questions themselves were highly prejudicial any the less a justiciable one.

Then follows a citation of federal and state authorities cogently discussed in but seven pages of briefing.

In every respect these contentions were briefed in full compliance with the rules and were entitled to the judicial process of their consideration and decision.

Petitioner has had competently presented for him in each of the briefs in the two cases before the Hawaiian Supreme Court at least one justiciable contention which, if sustained, well may require reversal.

CONCLUSION.

Wherefore, petitioner respectfully prays that a writ of certiorari be issued to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit and that the final judgment of said Court in said cause be reviewed and reversed.

Dated, Honolulu, Hawaii,
January 20, 1948.

O. P. SOARES,
Counsel for Petitioner.
